

MUST FACE AGGRESSORS WITH STRONG HOME FRONT

Says Chairman Sampson, Urging Budget Giving to Raise Arlington's War Fund Quota.

Sacrifice and patriotism only can meet the Metropolitan Division's share in the Greater Boston United War Fund, Charles C. Cabot, division chairman, this week warned the 45 communities outside the City of Boston participating in Greater Boston's all-out campaign for $7,600,000.

He is watching with personal interest the progress of Arlington in the three-week campaign under the direction of Chairman Arthur W. Sampson, he said. He congratulated Revere and Concord for their achievement in making their quotas early in the campaign and said that he looked for similar returns from many other communities long before the February 11 deadline.

"But if many continue to think in terms of peace-time generosity, we're not going to meet our goal," Cabot said. "For now we are at the Arlington Advocate.

Dear Editor:

In the last two issues of your paper you were kind enough to broadcast to your readers an appeal for volunteer workers for the distribution of sand to all the homes in Arlington and to further instruct the citizens about having the containers ready to receive their share of it.

Without imposing on your unflinching spirit of ready cooperation, I do wish to express through your paper to the many persons involved not only my own personal appreciation, but also that of the Arlington Committee on Public Safety and the citizens of the town for a big job done

Mrs. Frank Sawyer Elected President Of Service League

The annual meeting of the Arlington Service League was held in the Hearing room of the Town Hall last Friday morning. Lester W. Collins, the retiring chairman, presided at the meeting. An expression of gratitude was made by the members for the time and service given by Mr. Collins in carrying the league through an extremely difficult transition period. The annual report of the executive secretary was read, showing that service had been given to 233 families during the eight months period which the executive secretary had been with the agency. The first four months of the year would bring the total of the families served well over 250.

The treasurer's report, which was read by Mrs. Morrissey, showed a balance.

FINISHED QUALITY IN PRESENTATION OF VINEGAR TREE

By Patricia F. R. Graham

It is most refreshing for an outsider to come into a community with a really thriving amateur theater. Many people have heard of the Arlington Friends of the Drama, but you have to see them in order to believe the finished quality of their performances, and even then it is hard to realize that their excellent effects are achieved without benefit of outside equipment or advice. I have been fortunate in my introduction to them this year on two widely different types of theater—"Lillom", and now, at the other end of the pole, a sophisticated modern comedy, "The Vinegar Tree."

Last week's performance of "The Vinegar Tree" was first rate entertainment and went off with the swiftness and polish that only ex-

Investigation showed that the number plates had been stolen in Somerville January first. Through the engine number of the car, a 1941 model, it was found that it had been stolen in Cambridge on January 19. Its number plates then were 540,777 and they are still missing. The car was returned to its owner Saturday morning.

ARLINGTON USES LESS THAN QUOTA

Arlington used fewer tires and tubes than its quota in January, according to Secretary Paul Ziegler of the Tire Rationing Committee. The quota was twenty-eight passenger tires and twenty were used; 24 tubes, 14 used; 36 heavy tires, 4 used, and 30 tubes, 6 used.

Tires and tubes went to the police department, to doctors, farmers, plumbers and postmen. In the last week of the month two passenger tires went to Dr. Sidney M. Simons, 1250 Massachusetts avenue; two tires and one tube to Arthur J. Norwood of 6 Mt. Vernon street, and four tires and four tubes to John B. Byrne of 17 Chestnut street. The two latter are in class E-6—transportation essential to render roofing, plumbing, heating and electrical repair services. One heavy tire and one heavy tube were granted to M. Ernest Moore, 361 Massachusetts avenue, under E-9—transportation of raw materials.

Although the Rationing Board were advised at the time of their appointment that their duties might include the rationing of other articles, they have received no further official notification of this. Many have asked them questions which they are unable to answer about the rationing of automobiles and sugar.

Makes Rubber Ball At Chamber Dinner

Onto a petroleum base mixed with other ingredients, Frank Reardon, manager of the truck tire department, New England division of the B. F. Goodrich Company, poured some acetic acid. He stirred it up, squeezed out some liquid and before the wondering eyes of the Chamber of Commerce members, gathered Tuesday evening at the Old Mill for their regular dinner meeting, bounced a good-sized rubber ball.

That was synthetic rubber of which, said Mr. Reardon, future automobile tires will be manufactured. Before this, he explained 97% of this country's rubber supply has come from the East Indies. That supply is cut off. The virgin forests of Brazil have been neglected so that little rubber can be secured there. However, synthetic rubber has been developed and thoroughly tested so that now rubber as durable as that from trees can be manufactured, costing one-third more. He displayed a tire made of synthetic rubber. He closed his talk, however, with admonitions and advice on the conservation of rubber.

President Earl Ryder presided and submitted the question of keeping stores open Friday nights, a proposition which was not favorably considered. Miss Anna B. Callahan, the secretary, and Mrs. Iola LeBaron, the treasurer, reported. Nils Anderson reported progress in collections to pay for Christmas lighting. The speaker was introduced by Lawrence Bliss.

Sand Distributed

All Over Arlington

Sand distributors visited every part of Arlington on Sunday and every household which had set out a container received some. Early in the morning there were several places where the containers had been forgotten and some of the householders "yoo-hooed" to the workers to come back. Later in the day there was a container in front of practically every house.

The trucks were overmanned in the morning and undermanned in the afternoon. The result was that some of the morning crews worked all day.

LOCAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE PROTESTS

TO U. S. CHAMBER

know that our Army and Navy must have first call on everything and anything to supply their needs and support their efforts, and we are willing to sacrifice and suffer with all the Country to win victory over our enemies; but we do not wish to be put out of business and suffer unnecessarily. We ask for sensible and fair treatment.

We have manufacturers of candy who need sugar; they are told they cannot have any, and better go out of business. From all accounts there is a large supply of sugar in warehouses and no scarcity; the prospects are that an added supply will be forthcoming. We are told that while Massachusetts is being restricted in this necessary material, other sections of the country have all they need. During the last world war, Massachusetts curtailed the use of sugar while other sections used it lavishly.

Our automobile dealers are told they must not part with cars in their possession. These dealers have to pay their loans and keep up their establishments. To prevent them from selling cars seems to us a high-handed attitude when customers are waiting to take the cars and assume whatever risk may arise as to their securing tires for the future operation of the cars. We have read that there is an abundance of tires in the country, so that users may be supplied without difficulty for at least two years. We have in mind that re-treading tires is now available, and very satisfactory. The Government suggests that Service Stations arrange their plants to take on the manufacture of small parts in connection with large contracts. This they are willing to do, but how are they to secure the machinery?

We have men in business needing burlap bags. We are told they are unable to secure them, notwithstanding they are in abundance in warehouses. We are told owners will not part with them at the ceiling price, and are out to exact a premium.

A concern in Town has a quantity of specially treated rope used by men caring for shade trees, etc., and it is "frozen" by Government order. Why, nobody seems to know. There is a demand for this rope, but under Government orders it cannot be sold—which seems to be an unnecessary hardship.

The suggestion is made that our people plant gardens and raise vegetables—which many are eager to do—but what's the use when it is impossible to secure the hose necessary for spraying for insect and disease control. Dealers have been trying to secure an A-3 rating to meet this demand, but without success.

There is need for warning the people, we know, but we do not believe there is need for scaring the people. There is need for conservation, but it should be equitably handled. We believe business should (it must) continue; but it must not be closed down by any unwarranted acts. If the war costs are to be paid, all business must be helped to survive and thrive. We have in mind the gasoline fiasco last summer, and we wish to avoid a repetition of that in sugar, tires, automobiles, hose, etc. Boards having to do with them and similar things should see to it that small business as well as big business, and all business must be given an opportunity to be supplied with some of the material that will permit them to remain in business and secure an existence at least.

We strenuously urge you to bring this matter to the forefront and do all in your power to see that all business is given help, and not coldly told to go out of business when seeking the minimum supply to carry on.

Very truly yours,
ARLINGTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

No Job Too Large No Job Too Small For R. W. LeBaron

No job is too large, no job is too small. If it's electrical, R. W. LeBaron can do it.

This firm of electrical contractors, located in the rear of 453 Massachusetts avenue, has established a reputation for quality work throughout New England, where they are engaged in traffic signal and fire alarm installation. They are construction engineers in New England for the Eagle Signal Corporation which is a subsidiary of the Gamewell Company.

In Arlington, they maintain a competent staff to repair or wire for anything electrical. The same expert attention is given to the smallest as to the largest project. The employees are skilled mechanics who are residents of Arlington and who have been with the organization for more than twenty-five years.

The business was first established in 1894. It was incorporated in 1928 when Alvin A. Woodward came into the organization. Before joining R. W. LeBaron, Mr. Woodward had been connected with the electrical industry for fourteen years as journeyman, instructor and merchandiser. He is now president of the concern and Mrs. Iola LeBaron, widow of R. W. LeBaron, the founder, is its treasurer.

 pert direction and acting can give. All the details of the production worked together for the final effect. The stage set was excellent, and the lighting, though inconspicuous, was extremely skilful. The acting had the timing and precision of a cast sure of themselves and of each other.

Plays Lead with Authority
 Arthur Heaney as Max Lawrence played a difficult leading part with authority and humor. I think especially of the opening of the second act where he says and does almost nothing and yet remains as interesting and important as anyone on the stage. His two big scenes around which the rest of the play revolves were highly successful, especially the one with the young girl, Edythe Avery, in which Mr. Heaney emerges from waves of laughter and applause bewildered and embarrassed, but with perfect poise.

Dow Pickering did a remarkable piece of work as Augustus Merrick. It is seldom that a young man plays an old man so convincingly, and both his manner and his make-up were excellent. You have to go backstage and touch him to believe that he is not the cantankerous sweet old fuddy duddy he seems to be in the play. His apology scene in the last act is particularly clever and is followed by a frivolous bit of by-play with his wife which is one of the high points of the performance.

Bernard Edmark, as Geoffrey Cole had to combine spontaneity with the deadly intensity of youth—to yearn and to reject in the same breath—"I love you—but don't come near me"—and he was a delightfully bewildered and earnest young man. The approaching and retreating scene between him and Edythe Avery in the first act was funny and charming and well done, as was his sudden change of atti-well and completely in one day. Early last week it appeared that we were to be disappointed in the number of available volunteers, but when the hour arrived we found that actually in a few cases we had men who reported for assignment for whom no assignment was possible. That is real Arlington spirit.

It is not possible to mention all by name nor even to write each worker as a complete list of names is not available. I do want to mention by groups the personnel which consisted of all the regular employees of the Public Works Department, approximately 70% of the W.P.A. workers, some members of the Arlington Heights Improvement Ass'n, Auxiliary Fire Dept., Auxiliary Police Dept., and Air Raid Wardens. In addition to these there were town and state officials with many other citizens, all of whom gave their services in shoveling and toting for either a half day in some cases or the full day in the majority of cases.

Transportation was provided by the regular town trucks augmented by many other volunteer trucks with drivers. Approximately 400 tons of sand was distributed, of which 200 tons was donated by the Thomas Quinn Co. This resulted in the work being completed at a total cost of slightly less than $150 which is a record I am sure is unexcelled by any other community.

Arrangements have been made for those people who may have accidentally not received sand. They may secure it by visiting the Town Yard at 1083 Massachusetts avenue with their containers where an additional supply has been provided for that purpose.

In closing, I do wish to particularly thank the Board of Public Works and James R. Smith, its chairman, who undertook the responsibility and planning of this necessary project and I repeat my thanks to every last man who participated in any way.

Gratefully yours,
WALTER T. CHAMBERLAIN

Nun Pleads for Aid For Hungry Chinese

"Fifteen hundred hungry people were at our gate before nine o'clock this morning. Help keep us here with your prayers," was the plea contained in a letter from Kongmoon, South China, just received at the Maryknoll Sisters' Motherhouse, Maryknoll, N. Y. The letter, written just a few days before war was declared, is from the convent Superior, Sister Mary Patricia Coughlin, the daughter of Mrs. Hannah Coughlin of 60 Warren street.

According to a cable received here shortly after hostilities began, Sister Patricia is no longer in Kongmoon, the Japanese having given the five Maryknollers in that city safe conduct to the Portuguese Island of Macao.

Since the first invasion of Kongmoon in the spring of 1938, when seven villages moved into the Mission Compound, Sister Patricia has directed the distribution of rice to hundreds of refugees daily. For many of these, medical care was also provided through the mission dispensary. Now definitely Japanese occupied territory, Kongmoon, an important port city, has changed hands several times during the Far Eastern conflict. Once during an eighteen-month period of Japanese occupation, Sister Patricia was virtually a prisoner, not being allowed to leave the Mission Compound.

Even during this time, however, she was permitted to continue her work with refugees. The rice distributed has been received from different sources. There have been occasional bitter days when the supplies ran out and the hungry could not be fed. For some months now rice has no longer been available. In its place, cracked wheat received from the American Red Cross has been carefully rationed to keep as many as possible from starvation.

The letter quoted above is evidence that refugee relief was continued up to the last by the Maryknoll Mission in Kongmoon. This work will presumably now be continued by the native Sisters who, in all probability, remained in Kongmoon. This new community of Chinese Sisters, known as Sisters of the Immaculate Heart, have been trained by Maryknoll Sisters to carry on educational and medical work among their own people.

ber of the Board of Selectmen, seeks re-election as does Moderator William F. Davis, Jr.

Others seeking re-election are Dr. Carl E. Barstow to the Board of Health, Daniel M. Hooley to the Park Commission, Charles H. Bowler to the Planning Board, J. Edwin Kimball to the Cemetery Commission, Daniel M. Daley as tree warden, Harrie H. Dadmun as commissioner of the Sinking Fund, and Arthur J. Wellington, trustee of Edwin S. Farmer Funds. Frederick W. Hill and Edward H. Kittredge, recently appointed Robbins Library trustees, seek election, and Geoffrey A. Sawyer is a candidate for trustee of the Pratt Fund.

In spite of letters sent to Town Meeting members from the Town Clerk's office giving them blanks to fill out if they wished re-election, there are two precincts in which there are not enough candidates to fill the vacancies. These are five and six. In Precincts Three, Seven, Eight, Ten, Twelve, Thirteen and Fourteen there will be contests, as more have filed than there are vacancies.

LIONS CLUB

Genial Harry (Hull), owner of the Old Mill, was late for the meeting and arrived just in time to hear his name called, but nevertheless had to pay a dime fine for his tardiness.

Tall Twister Fred Malsbenden kept the meeting rolling by finding everyone in sight until he found his dinner was missing, and decided to sit down in hope of having dinner served to him.

Mr. Patterson of the Portland Cement Association was guest speaker of the evening and gave an interesting illustration with pictures, entitled "Pennsylvania Turnpike", showing most of the large turnpikes in the country.

A man cannot have an idea of perfection in another which he was never sensible of in himself.

TURNING DISADVANTAGES INTO ADVANTAGES

The small annoyances that those of us in this country who stay at home in comfort and security have to endure are really not of the least importance when compared with the lootings and bombings that civilians of other countries have suffered.

Yet, it is irritating to be unable to buy sugar, to have taken from you the second package of napkins you had picked up at the self-service store, to find your favorite fruit juice missing from its regular place on the grocer's shelf, to visit several shops before you can buy even one card of safety pins.

All these—and doubtless more—we must learn to meet as a part of our defense job. Met in the right way they may prove advantages instead of disadvantages.

The best way to overcome shortages is by conservation. That is also the way to prevent inflation, since increased prices result from increased demands, and the way to stretch to the utmost our shrinking incomes.

Most of us can get along very well with less sugar. In fact such a diet modification—fewer heavy sweet desserts, more fruits—would improve both our health and our figures. Moreover, those of us who kept house in the last world war, can recall such palatable substitutes as honey, corn syrup and maple sugar.

If we can buy but one package of napkins we will use those more carefully and we may reach for needle and thread instead of a safety pin. Indeed, we may use our mending kits more frequently with satisfactory results. If we take that stitch in time that saves nine our clothes will last longer and we will push further away the day when our wearing apparel will be rationed.

And what shall we do with our savings? After we have given to the United War Fund, we can put them into Defense Stamps. We will be helping to win the war both by buying armaments and by conserving the materials needed for armaments. We will be preparing also to meet the peace that will follow—soon, we hope—the war.

WE SHARE THE BENEFIT

Arlington Boy Scouts are joining tomorrow and through the coming week with ten million men and boys all over the country to celebrate the thirty-second anniversary of scouting. With them will join their mothers and fathers, their sisters and their neighbors—all the citizens of Arlington—for we all know what scouting has meant both to the boys and to the community.

The aim and purpose of scouting are character and citizenship, qualities that are a necessity in a democracy. If the scout program has brought to the boys, fun, health, skill and self development, the community has shared the benefit.

Scouts in Arlington, as in other places, have proven themselves an asset. They have been ever ready to do their part in defense.

We hope, with all our hearts, that they will not grow up to be soldiers, but if they do we know that they will be courageous and reliable soldiers, just as we are sure they will be intelligent and dependable citizens.

SEVEN REASONS WHY COMMUNITY FUND AGENCIES IN THE GREATER BOSTON UNITED WAR FUND NEED YOUR GENEROUS SUPPORT IN 1942

- Hospitals must be maintained in war time at peak efficiency in case of disaster or epidemic.
- The community's health must be held at highest level to withstand economic and emotional level of the times.
- Settlements in crowded districts are more than ever needed as a refuge to whole families seeking release from tension.
- Family agencies have more calls for aid than in many years. Temporary help and counsel will be increasingly needed during 1942, owing to change and adjustment in jobs.
- Boys' and girls' work must not be relaxed in wartime, lest Britain's mistake which resulted in alarmingly increased delinquency be repeated.
- Day nurseries, already full, are turning away children whose mothers must work.
- Handicapped and crippled must still be given a chance to earn their living—trained, if possible, for defense production.

Burst. — Superintendent Stickney of the Water Works, was routed out at eleven o'clock, Tuesday night, to attend to a "busted" hydrant on the Avenue, near the residence of Mr. Hobbs. The superintendent is of the opinion if the hydrant had been closed properly when last used the burst (?) would not have occurred.

At the last meeting of the Hiram Lodge, F.A.M., of Arlington, Mr. John Hill was presented with a valuable past masters' jewel. The presentation speech was made by Wm. E. Parmenter, Esq.

Fifty Years Ago This Week

Once again the Arlington First Parish Congregational church (Unitarian) has called to its pastorate a young man fresh from the schools, on this occasion calling Mr. Frederic Gill. The ordination and installation service occurred last evening, before an audience of townspeople and visitors from abroad that filled the seating capacity of the church.

The leap year party, to be given under the direction of a party of Arlington young ladies, will occur in Town Hall, Monday evening, February 29. There are an unusually large number of young men, just at this time, on the anxious seat, which they don't find any too comfortable, "donch yer know."

Mr. and Mrs. E. Nelson Blake and Mrs. J. S. Crosby started the early part of this week for Florida.

Twenty-Five Years Ago This Week

Messrs. Rodney T. and Charles A. Hardy returned the first of the week from a ten days' trip of business and pleasure, through the middle west, going as far as Minneapolis. While in Minneapolis the thermometer registered twenty below zero, but still no more uncomfortable feeling was experienced than in the east with the thermometer at zero.

A reception was tendered to Rev. and Mrs. Warren N. Bixby Friday evening, Jan. 26th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Bourcy, 35 Cleveland street, under the auspices of the Woman's Guild of the Church of Our Saviour. Rev. Mr. Bixby is the rector of the new parish and was recently married and the event was thus of double interest to the residents of East Arlington.

Writes Thanks to Member Of British War Relief

Mrs. S. L. Thompson of 51 Claremont avenue, a member of the Arlington Committee of the British War Relief Society, received the following letter of thanks from England.

S. L. Thompson
51 Claremont Ave.
Arlington Hts., Mass.
U. S. A.

Tuesday, Dec. 9th 1900HRS

Dear Friend:

I received a week ago through the medium of one of our daily papers The Daily Mirror, a pair of socks which formed part of a "Bundle for Britain". On turning the socks inside out I came across a small strip containing your name and thought I would like to express my appreciation of your work. The boys here are very grateful for the kindness shown by our American friends which shows the common bond of friendship between our peoples. We are all for the same cause and as I write this letter I am mindful of your country being brought forcibly into the conflict by reason of Japan's attack on the Philippines.

You will find things change quite a good deal when a war of this nature appears but if you could see the resolute manner in which the civilian people stick up to the heavy night bombing the like of which occurred this time last year in my own town, Manchester, you would marvel at them and it gives us great heart when we have to return from leave.

I have two youngsters that were in the Blitz but are safe and sound, thank God.

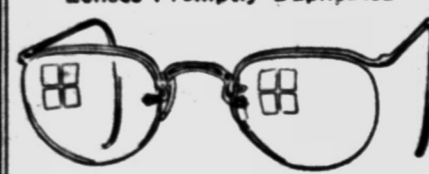

Well, dear friend, I must close now, so thanks again.

From a grateful recipient,

G. H. Todd

NEWS IN BRIEF

The British loan China 50 thousand pounds for war purposes. Our President asks Congress to approve a 500 million loan to the same country for a like purpose.

Germany stresses Japanese successes and Nazi attacks in Libya to cover up losses in Russia.

The steady flow of arms to Britain forces Hitler to risk his subs off our coast (considered a sign of weakness). Cries Hitler, "Watch our subs now"—we will; watch them go down, 'tis hoped.

India's army of 1,000,000 men wants tools. "Given this aid" (from the United States) the Agent General in this country says, "India not only will be able to save herself for democracy but will help save democracy for the world"—the old story.

Scores of Irishmen, many from Eire, apply to join the American forces. "Thank you", says Uncle Sam, "but non-citizens may not enlist in the American armed forces."

German planes appear over Northern Ireland but nothing happened. Curious, perhaps, about those American boys.

Only Jimmie Maxton, Independent Labor member, withholds his confidence vote in Parliament's tribute to Winston Churchill. 464 are in step. Independent!

The democratic countries rejoice in the election of Juan Antonio Rios, in Chili.

Through the Rio conferences, the United Nations gain reserves of oil, manganese, tin, rubber, other raw materials, 2,000,000 trained reserves and 100,000,000 people.

Peru gains 7,700 square miles under the terms of settlement of its boundary dispute with Ecuador.

The Mexican Supreme Court now finds that foreign oil companies have a right to indemnification for oil seized in that country. The United States Senate ratifies a treaty with Mexico providing for settlements. Our neighbor pays us $40,000,000.

Perhaps the offer of 200 airplanes, as a gift from Nelson Rockefeller to Mexican flyers, had some weight in the settlement.

Machinery starts to authorize the Government to aid private companies insuring against air raid damage.

The President signs the price-control bill and states that while its provisions applying to farm prices is a threat to the cost of living, the bill is "worth having." It is now up to Wickard to protect the consumer against the farm bloc. He warns, "Efforts to push prices above parity may endanger the parity principle itself."

More of the alphabet, "ABDA"—one word Abda—America, Britain, Dutch, Australia.

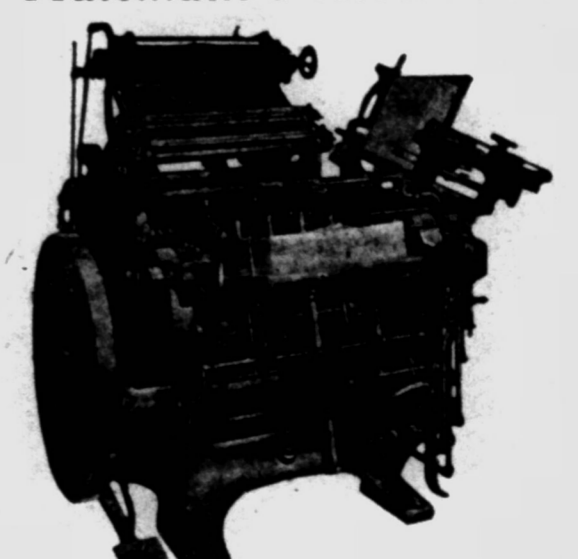

"The man who relaxes is helping the Axis," a slogan originated by a munitions handler.

The Gimbel Philadelphia Award of $1,000 goes to the Philip Jones family at Shelton, Conn., as "typical of countless families in the United States doing their magnificent bit in their daily living and in their communities for freedom and defense." The First Lady does the presenting.

From Philadelphia comes an A.P. story: "A pair of newspaper reporters who dressed as Nazi U-boat commanders and paraded through this 'Cradle of Liberty's' busiest streets without being stopped, 'wonder why the Greeks bothered about sending a wooden horse into Troy.' 'No Philadelphia horse is necessary,' wrote Frank Toughill and William B. Mellor, Jr., in today's Record, 'A Nazi can just walk into the city—in uniform.'"

Our Navy swings into action with success in the southern Pacific. Gen Douglas MacArthur repulses the Japs in the Philippines. The Yanks and the Dutch succeed in eliminating about 25% of Japan's naval power, 'tis claimed. Our bombers help Singapore and bag enemy planes off Borneo.

UNIVERSALIST NEWS

"A Child's Thought of God", will be the subject of an address by Dr. William Wallace Rose, pastor of the First Universalist church in Lynn, next Wednesday evening in the Universalist church auditorium at 7:15 following the monthly supper of the Universalist Sabbath School Union. Elsie McPhee of the Malden Universalist church will give a book talk. The closing service of worship starting at nine will be conducted by Rev. Robert M. Rice. Parents especially are being urged to hear Dr. Rose's message. Anyone may attend the supper at 6:30 by telephoning the church school superintendent, Edith N. Winn, at Arlington 1594-W by next Monday evening.

Many tables have already been taken for the military whist in the parish hall Friday evening, February 13, under the auspices of the Patterson Fellowship. Tables may be reserved by telephoning Arlington 2950. This occasion will take the place of the regular monthly meeting of the fellowship according to William Gebow, the president.

During three days last week Rev. Robert Rice lived at Wayside Inn, Sudbury, as a guest of the "Fraters of Wayside Inn", an organization of Universalist ministers that have conducted an annual retreat in this famous hostelry since 1901. Last Monday afternoon Mr. Rice conducted the funeral service at Both-el, Maine, of a person in his former parish at Rumford.

Dr. Frederic W. Perkins, 163 Jason street, is preaching every Sunday at the Church of The Divine Paternity in New York City.

Henry and Victoria Stearns Lloyd left by plane Tuesday for Seattle, Washington, making a brief stop at Lexington, Kentucky, for a visit with Mr. Lloyd's parents. He will be stationed at the Naval Air Base near Seattle.

Mrs. Irving Brackett, wife of Lt. Brackett, told her experiences in the attack on Pearl Harbor to the Red Cross group meeting at the Universalist church Tuesday evening.

To Portray Custer's Last Stand at University

One of the most spectacular events in United States military history—General Custer's last stand at Little Big Horn, Montana, is thrillingly reenacted on the screen in "They Died With Their Boots On", which starts Sunday at the University Theatre. Errol Flynn portrays Custer in the film which is the first to deal entirely with life of the famous American soldier. Olivia de Havilland, Flynn's lovely co-star in so many previous adventure films, plays the role of Elizabeth Bacon, who became Mrs. Custer. Colonel William A. Graham, one of the foremost authorities on the life and death of Custer, supplied many interesting sidelights on Custer's story to the research department at Warner Bros., producers of the film.

The new March of Time—"When Air Raids Strike," and other interesting short subjects, complete the program.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes "Meet John Doe," co-starring Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck, and "Tight Shoes," featuring Binnie Barnes, John Howard and Broderick Crawford.

Are you looking for something different in the way of screen entertainment? The University management promises just that in their next feature attraction, "One Foot in Heaven," which opens Thursday. Based on the recent best seller by Hartzell Spence, it is a warm, genial story of family life in the first quarter of this century, and of the lovable tyrant (Spence's own father) who ruled the family. Fredric March and Martha Scott are costarred at the head of a large cast, with March as Father and Miss Scott as the doting wife who subtly diverts his benevolent tyranny.

"The Night of January 16th," featuring Robert Preston and Nancy Drew, is the associate film.

Town Topic

—Mrs. Warren J. Guild of 41 Coolidge road, gave a birthday luncheon to Mrs. Charles Winner of 14 Jason street last Tuesday. Those attending included Mrs. Alice M. Guild, Mrs. Fred Fletcher, Miss Grace Winner, and Miss Gertrude Springer.

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday, February 8, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

The Golden Text is: "I have poured out my spirit upon the house of Israel, saith the Lord God" (Ezekiel 39:29). Other Bible citations include: "But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God" (1 Corinthians 2:9, 10).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "For right reasoning there should be but one fact before the thought, namely, spiritual existence. People Kinder Since War Began Says English Woman

The following letter written to Professor Arthur I. Andrews, formerly of Arlington, is described by him as "late but exceedingly to the point."

Nov. 22, 1941

Dear Professor A.

We would like to wish you a very happy Christmas and peaceful New Year.

John is getting very excited about Christmas. I am so thankful that the war hasn't affected many children. They are well fed still (by careful planning, of course) as arrangements are made for them to have first claims on the milk, and also children under six can obtain occasionally oranges and black currant juice boiled, whilst those under fourteen have the next chance. John gets so excited when he gets a few oranges, but we are lucky that our London garden will keep us in fruit (with care) until February. We find the extra ration of 1/4 lb. of sugar weekly and 2 oz. of fat is very welcome and we have learnt not to take everything for granted as we did before the war. We get quite a lot of amusement over our one egg per month for winter months, and I really was nervous lest I should drop the precious egg (one each) when it was given me.

Really though we are managing extremely well, and are none the worse off. We all say we shall never go back to our extravagant ways of having meat twice a day, etc. People are much kinder to each other and we all help each other by little gifts, perhaps 1/4 to 1/2 lb. margarine is very welcome in a small family, whilst someone else has no garden and needs vegetables. A large family manages better of course than a small family.

I am going up to London after Christmas. I expect I shall have a shock when I see my home, but it's not going to worry me; others have sons in danger, or wounded or perhaps killed, and all my loss can be replaced, so I consider myself very lucky.

We are full of admiration for the Russians. My mother lived for four years before her marriage in the south of Russia so we felt we knew the country that the Germans gained (for the time). Gareth got his keenness for Russia from her. The Poles and Czechs are the most determined fighters. We have often said, and strangely enough read afterward in an article that the Poles, Czechs and Russians should deal (as they like) with the Germans after the war.

We in Britain and America have not suffered enough for this task.

I do not know if this article I enclose will reach you. We send so few if any parcels now that the bigger denominations stamps are not often used by us, so I am sorry I have none to send at the moment.

I wish I could take a full-time job, but John is too young to leave to himself, but I feel I ought to, though I do as much volunteer work as I can. It seems so little.

A happy New Year. Thank you all for what you are doing. We are grateful.

Is there any special place in London you are interested in? I will do my best to go to see it and describe the damage for you.

Everyone says "London is scarred," but as my husband and others say, there is so much of London that you can walk about and see little damage except in certain places. In places like Plymouth and Swansea the damage shows up as the whole centre of the town may be down to the ground and yet carry less damage than in London.

I will quote from my husband's letter. It was his first visit to the city. "I had a walk around London, first up the city and around St. Paul's. You'd never realize that it was possible to smash up all those buildings in such a short time. Frightful damage and the worst in London by a long way, though we have some bad patches round here (Lee Rd. way, my old home)."

cross-roads with only one more week to go in this united campaign for which we all have taken mutual responsibility.

"The rate in increase in giving must be raised. Dollar contributions are not going to win this home-front war, but real sacrifices, small in comparison with those being made on the fighting front, can and will win it.

New Givers Must Be Reached

"And there are many patriotic citizens who have never given before to a War Fund, but will and must give now. These new givers must be reached if we are to make our goal."

Chairman Sampson encouraged all Arlington workers to complete their solicitation and clean up all possible prospects. It will be to the everlasting credit of the community if Arlington not only meets its quota, but proves its patriotism by oversubscription, he said.

Urging citizens of the community to make use of the budget plan of giving to the Fund, Mr. Sampson pointed out that it is not necessary to pay the entire sum of the pledge at the time of solicitation. Under the War Fund's plan, the pledge may be paid in small sums at various convenient periods.

"It is not always convenient to give as much as one desires when your solicitor calls," said Mr. Sampson, "but we hope that many will feel they can increase their gifts substantially by paying on the budget plan."

"1941 giving cannot possibly meet the needs of 1942, for only if we build a strong home front, a healthy and determined community front, can we hope to maintain an unbroken front line to face the most savage aggressors in history. We owe it to the sons and fathers of Arlington who are serving in the army, navy and marine corps and may be called upon to give their lives for our protection, to give them our full support. That's the least any of us can do."

Whether the people of Greater Boston will meet this unprecedented wartime challenge for the combined needs of Community Fund, Red Cross, USO and Soldiers and Sailors Committee will be told in the three remaining reports to be given Friday and Monday noon, February 6 and 9 at the Boston City Club, and Wednesday evening, February 11, at the Hotel Statler. Like all campaign events, these two luncheons and the final dinner will be paid for by those attending.

Bevins; from one of the "Boys" who has played under the coaching of Ostergren, and is now going places in baseball, "Pat" O'Brien, a member of the committee.

Groups from local organizations have reserved tables in order that they may be together. The committee has made arrangements to secure round tables accommodating ten persons. Others planning to take in the affair and who have not already made arrangements to sit together and who desire to, should contact the committee on this matter. Dress is optional.
